

L.O. I can analyse a poem.

SPOT THE MISTAKES!

I carn't believe its friday tomorrow!

Have you got a rubber I could borrow.

Why are'nt you doing the task on the board?

We is really looking forward to robinwood.

'The Word Party' by Richard Edwards.

Loving words clutch crimson roses,
Rude words sniff and pick their noses,
Sly words come dressed up as foxes,
Short words stand on cardboard boxes,
Common words tell jokes and gabble,
Complicated words play Scrabble,
Swear words stamp around and shout,
Hard words stare each other out,
Foreign words look lost and shrug,
Careless words trip on the rug,
Long words slouch with stooping
shoulders,
Code words carry secret folders,
Silly words flick rubber bands,
Hyphenated words hold hands,
Strong words show off, bending metal,
Sweet words call each other 'petal',
Small words yawn and suck their thumbs
Till at last the morning comes.
Kind words give out farewell posies...

L.O.: analysing the poem in words.

We need to show off what we know. Your task is to write two paragraphs about the poem from the previous slide, The Word Party sharing everything you know about poetic devices and everything you can see in the poem. Take a look at the WAGOLL below.

This poem is called 'The Word Party'. It uses personification to pretend that the words are actually people at a party; it imagines what they would do.

The poem has the rhyme scheme AABB all the way through, and most lines are 8 syllables. This means that it has a good rhythm and sounds good when read aloud. The poet also makes good use of repetition, using the word 'words' on nearly every line. There are also examples of alliteration, such as _____
